The basis of a sound society is found in a healthy and congenial community life. In the Americanization Survey of Chicago, studies have been made: (a) Of the population of Chicago - its cosmopolitan character; (b) Of forces which make for development of class-consciousness, inter-class suspicion and hatred; (c) Of forces which make for mutual understanding, good-will and harmony. Population of Chicago The population of Chicago classified according to nativity is made up of 44 of people of English speaking parentage (of whom at present estimates of 4 are negroes) and 56 of foreign language groups. The details are shown on pages 5-7. These various groups are found mingled to some extent in every ward of the city. The Polish, the Bohemians, the Russian Jews, the Italians, the Lithuanians, and the Negroes, have large segregated districts. These districts and their character are described on pages 8-13. Anti-Social Forces There are three schools of ultra-radicals - Anarchists, Communists, and Syndicalists. What they stand for...
