Earlier research has reported on the development of Data Envelopment Analysis (DEA), a mathematical programming based technique developed by A. Charnes, W. W. Cooper and E. Rhodes [6] [7] [8]. DEA is designed to locate and measure the technical efficiency of Decision Making Units (DMU) that use multiple inputs to produce multiple outputs on an ex post basis. A key characteristic of DEA is its ability to locate inefficient DMU s based on observed behavior without specific information about the production function, i. e., the input-output relationships that characterize the technology of a set of Decision Making Units within an industry. All that is required to apply DEA is an understanding of and an ability to measure the relevant outputs and inputs. These characteristics are particularly suitable for application to health care organization because 1) considerable benefits may arise from any...
